New Yorkers Sought to Have Old-time Trainer Take White Man's Corner.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—In his reply to the New York sports who are intent upon Jas. J. Jeffries winning the Fourth of July contest, Billy Delaney, former trainer of the fighter and maker of champions, emphatically placed himself upon record as not having forgotten an old grudge against the white pugilist. The telegram which Delaney received and answered yesterday from Harbin Springs, where he has gone with Al Kaufman for a short vacation, set forth his sentiments in regard to the contest. Years ago when he was closely allied with Jeffries his advice and training regulations were of the greatest assistance in making Jeffries what he was when he quit the ring. Following a disagreement, Delaney did not hesitate to speak of the manner in which he had been treated by Jeffries, thrown down, as it appeared, and he vowed never again to have anything to do with him as a fighter.

Acting-Governor Frees Twenty-Three Convicts

Last Act Is to Release William Eaton of This County From Folsom.

SACRAMENTO, June 4.—Acting Governor Warren R. Porter issued his twenty-third pardon Thursday in San Francisco when he extended executive clemency to William Eaton, whose name is said to be William Eaton, a Folsom convict out on parole. Eaton was sent out from Alameda county in April, 1902, for forty-five years for rape. Former Governor Stanford was appealed to for clemency and commuted the sentence to fifteen years, which would free the convict in 1917, with credits allowed for good behavior. In March, 1908, Eaton was released on parole, and at the meeting of the State Board of Prison Directors on May 28 a recommendation was made for a pardon. Eaton's victim was Martha Abbie McGraw, then nineteen years of age, and residing with her parents at 1411 Kirkham street, and the crime was committed on Saturday night, June 12, 1900. On that evening the girl attended a dance in Portuguese Hall, West Oakland, and started for her home unescorted, about 12 o'clock. At the corner of Sixteenth and Kirkham streets, according to the girl's testi-

What Delaney Replied

"William P. Rooney,
"New York City.
"Not for Manhattan Island! I quit Jeffries for welching on a gambling debt and running out on the Squires match. Jeffries has selected a good training staff and can get along without me. From a white man's standpoint I admire the stand you take—but I could not conscientiously have any more dealings with James J. Jeffries.

WHEREABOUTS OF GIRL IS VEILED IN MYSTERY

Police Search Cemetery in Vain for Trace of Missing Helena Walsh.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—It is now eight days since Helena Walsh disappeared from her home. Where is she? Is she dead or alive and too ill to make known her whereabouts? Not since the days of the disappearance of Mrs. X. Walsh, whose daughter was found in a vacant lot, has such a baffling mystery confronted the police. For eight days the city and surrounding towns have been scouring for trace of the missing girl. Helena Walsh is known to have been seriously ill when she left her little room in the home of Mrs. Davidson, at 1317 Devisadero street. Her mother and another believe she is dead. Captain of Detectives Wall has ordered the mounted police of the park section to search every nook and corner of Golden Gate Park for the girl. The search made in Calvary cemetery yesterday was fruitless.

CEMETERY SEARCHED.

"We pored into every secluded spot in the burial grounds," says Albert Bailey, who accompanied Thomas Walsh, the girl's brother, and the police in the tour of the cemetery, and we are now well convinced that she is not to be found there. There were many visitors at the cemetery on Memorial Day, and if the girl's body was there it would have been discovered by this time. The mother and relatives of the girl can not be convinced that she is not dead. They insist that the young woman would not leave her home unless crazed by sickness or lured away by some one. According to statements of the mother, the girl had not more than a dozen intimate friends. All of them were young women.

MENTALLY AFFECTED.

"Those who did not know my sister and the complaint from which she was a chronic sufferer may believe that she is alive and will return. We know that her ailment often caused her to become mentally affected. When this absence burst last Friday night she must have become mentally deranged and wandered to some obscure part of the city. She must be dead. There is no other explanation. We have given up all hope."

THE GIRL'S RELATIVES DO NOT EXPECT THE SEARCH IN THE PARK TODAY WILL YIELD ANY RESULTS.

YANKEE WITH INSURGENT FORCES IS CAPTURED

Alleged to Have Laid Mines at Bluefields to Blow Up the Attacking Army.

WOUNDED AND FALLS IN HANDS OF ENEMY

United States Practically Recognizes Estrada's Claim to Presidency.

SAN JUAN DEL SUR, Nic., June 4.—William D. Pittam, the American who laid the mines at Bluefields for the insurgents, was captured by the government troops and will be tried by court martial.

This was made known today following the receipt by the government of the details of the capture of Bluefields Buff by the forces of President Madriz.

The troops passed to the assault over five mines, only one of which was exploded. Pittam was wounded and captured, it is said, as he was engaged in operating the mechanism through which the hidden engines of destruction were released. Pittam formerly lived in Boston.

UNITED STATES MAY ACT.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The State Department has taken cognizance of the Associated Press dispatch from San Juan del Sur, that William D. Pittam, the American captured by the Madriz troops would be tried by court martial. A telegram to the Madriz government is being sent, stating in effect that this government expects fair and humane treatment for Pittam.

INSURGENTS VICTORIOUS.

BLUEFIELDS, Nicaragua, June 4.—Advices received here state that the insurgent forces under General Mena at Rama have defeated and put to flight the government troops commanded by General Chavarria.

Following the withdrawal of the Madriz forces from the vicinity of this city, General Chavarria with 400 men was dispatched to Rama to reinforce General Mena. General Chavarria arrived at Rama Thursday morning and General Mena at once sent a messenger to the government headquarters in the field offering Chavarria twenty hours in which to surrender or fight.

ENDEAVORS TO ESCAPE.

In reply Chavarria made a dash from a fortified position on a hill close to Rama, with the object, it is said, of escaping to the interior.

When Mena learned that the enemy was escaping he sent General Cordero with a strong force to cut off Chavarria's retreat. An engagement followed and continued for three hours, when the troops of President Madriz became thoroughly demoralized and fled in every direction, leaving their dead and wounded on the field.

RECOGNIZES INSURGENTS.

Thursday evening Thomas P. Moffatt, the American consul, issued a proclamation declaring that vessels entering the Port of Bluefields must pay custom duties to the government headed by General Estrada, the revolutionary leader. Subsequently the schooner Caye entered the harbor and was not interfered with by the government or those who are in possession of the customs house on Bluefields bluff.

The action of the United States in ruling that the revolutionists may receive customs duties has been recognized by the government.

Airship Makes Night Flight Over London

Army Dirigible Bucks Stiff Gale to Circle British Capital.

LONDON, June 4.—An army airship made a surprise reconnaissance over London during the night.

Leaving Aldershot at 11:30 o'clock last evening the craft started for London in the teeth of a stiff breeze. It reached St. Paul's two hours later and circled over the cathedral at a height of 1000 feet. Returning, the airship arrived at the barracks at Aldershot at 3 o'clock this morning.

The distance between Aldershot and London is about thirty-five miles and the time made by the airship first against, and then racing with the wind, is considered excellent.

Alleged Husband Slayer Enters Plea of Not Guilty; Not to Have Freedom.

LIBBY, Mont., June 4.—Mrs. Eva Prosser, who, when arraigned here last night entered a plea of not guilty to the alleged slaying of her husband, Reese Brown Prosser, of Seattle, on a Great Northern train last Wednesday, was ordered held without bail for the district court.

The arraignment followed a deliberation of several hours on the part of the coroner's jury.

MYSTERIOUS DEATH DUE TO HEART DISEASE

Coroner's Jury Finds Mrs. Sanguinetti's Demise Result of Natural Causes.

WOMAN'S BROTHER DENIES SHE WAS EVER MARRIED

Creates Sensation by Contradicting Former Statements Made by Himself.

A sensation was sprung this morning at the inquest into the death of Mrs. Julia Sanguinetti, or Miss Julia Tierney, who died at Providence Hospital Decoration Day under what was believed at that time to be peculiar circumstances when John Tierney of 251 Butwell street, San Francisco, brother of the dead woman, took the stand and denied under oath that he ever knew any one by the name of Sanguinetti connected with his sister or that she had ever been married. This statement was in direct contradiction of a statement made by Mrs. John Tierney when on the stand of the coroner's jury last Tuesday, and also contradicted the statement made by Tierney after the inquest when he said that there was a J. Sanguinetti, a bartender, who was known to his sister, but that the two were never married.

HEART DISEASE BLAMED.

The coroner's jury in the case returned a verdict of natural death caused by heart disease. It was the testimony of Dr. C. E. Devine, who was attending the woman at the Providence Hospital, that placed the cause of death. In his testimony Dr. Devine said that at 10 o'clock during his attendance on the woman did her symptoms show signs of poisoning and that he treated her first for heart disease.

TELLS POISON STORY.

The doctor testified that the woman on entering the hospital had told one of the nurses that she was poisoned by mercury tablets which she had taken by mistake thinking they were Lithia tablets. Dr. Devine said that she might have taken a mercury tablet but that it had left her system before he saw her and that she evidently believed her illness was a result of this poison.

TELLS OF MARRIAGE.

On the effects of the woman was found a card bearing the address of John Tierney, 251 Butwell street, San Francisco. At this address Mrs. Tierney said that the dead woman was a sister of her husband and that she had left their home several weeks before her death and gone to live at the Hotel in New Montgomery street. In this interview Mrs. Tierney said: "My sister-in-law was married to a man named Sanguinetti, a bartender, when she was fourteen years old. They did not get along well and after one of their quarrels the woman was taken to the hospital where she was treated for poisoning. After her recovery she left him and came to live with us. She came and went from here many times and about a month ago she left to live at the St. Paul Hotel. I know that her husband called there on her and that she was threatened by him if she did not return to live with him. That is the last I heard from her until I was notified that she was dead in Oakland."

CONTRADICTION'S WIFE.

This entire statement is contradicted by Tierney in the witness stand today. He said that he knew of no man named Sanguinetti, that he could not understand why his sister should have given that name at the hospital, and that she had never been married. He said she had left his house in San Francisco a month and two weeks before her death. He disclaimed any knowledge of her whereabouts during that time. When asked if his sister had left any property he said that she had left an insurance policy for $315, two bank books and a will distributing every thing to him. Tierney was given the jewelry which was taken from the woman's body, her clothing and other valuables which she had. He is now making arrangements for the funeral.

WILL DISCUSS DETAILS OF RAILROAD MEASURE

Heads of Big Lines to Confer With Executive on Administration Bill.

HOUSE AND SENATE MAY AGREE ON AMENDMENTS

Leaders Seek to Reach Agreement to Expedite Adjournment of Congress.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—

The reported intention of a number of railroad managers to visit Washington next week for the purpose of a personal conference with the President is already attracting a good deal of interest. The President will return to Washington tomorrow night and will resume his duties at the White House Monday.

At a conference between Representative Mann of Illinois and Senators Aldrich, Elkins and Crane it was suggested that the House might accept the Senate amendments to the railroad bill and a conference be avoided. If this course should be taken it would permit of the adjournment of Congress within three weeks.

PLAN IS FAVORED.

The suggestion that the House accept the Senate amendments to the railroad bill met with favor at the hands of some of the Democratic members of the House, who led the fight against the measure adopted by the House. They pointed out that the Senate bill was a much better one than that passed by the House from the shippers' standpoint, and if Republican leaders sincerely desired a measure which would benefit the people they could accept that measure.

The railroad bill reached the House at 2:30 o'clock. It will be permitted to lie on the table until Monday so that members may have an opportunity to examine it before it is formally laid before the House.

CONFERENCE IS EXPECTED.

When the House convened today it was expected that the bill would come over from the Senate and that Chairman Mann of the committee on commerce, which had the House bill in charge, would move dissent from the Senate amendments and recommend appointment of a committee of conference. The House conferees were expected to be Mann of Illinois, Wanger of Pennsylvania and Edmundson, Democrat, of Georgia.

Nevada Supreme Court Upholds Primary Law

The Decision Covers Fifty-seven Counts Raised Against the Legality of Act.

RENO, June 4.—By a decision handed down last evening, written by Associate Justice Sweeney and concurred in by Chief Justice Norcross and Justice Talbot, the direct primary law of Nevada, passed by the last legislature, was declared to be constitutional and will govern the nomination of candidates in this State at the coming election. The law was attacked on its constitutionality, on fifty-seven counts and the decision upholds the legality of the act in every particular.

RAILWAY BILL PASSES THE SENATE AND ROADS START RETALIATORY WARFARE

Cancel Every Contract for Equipment and the Improvements of the Lines; Maintenance of Way Expenditures to Be Chopped; Eastern Roads Openly Defy Injunction Against Higher Rates

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The railroad crisis which confronts the country was rendered more serious today by a series of contributory causes ranging from the passage of the administration bill by the Senate late last night through the drastic retaliatory action by the railroads to a fiery bill introduced in the House today.

The passage of the bill by the Senate with only two dissenting votes and the passage of the bill by the House today, which will not only cancel every contract for equipment and the improvements of the lines, but will also cut off the maintenance of way expenditures to be chopped; Eastern roads openly defy injunction against higher rates.

Lehnhardt's SUNDAY DESSERT Famous Banquet Dessert

Whenever a big important banquet is held we are nearly always called upon to furnish the dessert.

—Of course it is a big advantage for us to give some thing particularly fine something that does not talk about and remember.

—Consequently we take great care in the preparation of our banquet desserts and make them as perfect as possible regardless of cost.

—Of all the banquet desserts we have made the one that attracted most attention was furnished a few weeks ago to a small and exceedingly exclusive gathering of prominent club men at a private banquet. These gentlemen were connoisseurs of the art of eating and they said that they preferred the dessert to the rest of the banquet.

—We have decided to make the same dessert (what we furnished at the banquet) for tomorrow's special and think you will find it as good as the banquet they talk so much about.

The dessert is made in the form of a three layer frozen cake as follows:

PEACH ICE CREAM
PEACH ICE CREAM
VANILLA ICE CREAM

Reducing the Cost of Water Upward.

The Bay Cities Water Company which is endeavoring to show to the people of Oakland that it would be of advantage to the city and the water rate payers to encourage the installation of its water plant here, principally for the reduction of rates, and says if the city will give them a consumption of 5,000,000 gallons daily they will furnish the water for 32 cents per 1000 gallons, or 19,000,000 gallons at 25 cents per 1000. It would seem from the experience of the Peoples Water Company that the offer of the proposed new enterprise, instead of being a reduction of the cost of water to the city as a whole, would be considerable of an increase. The annual financial statement of the Peoples Water Company shows its total receipts for water for the year 1909 was $1,343,450 and the report of the engineer shows a consumption of 11,000,000 gallons daily, or 6,935,000,000 for the year, which includes water for fires, wastage under the flat rate system, leakage, etc. Thus the city as a whole has only returned the Peoples Water Company an average of 19 cents per 1000 gallons instead of the 32 cents or 25 cents the Bay Cities Water Company wants for its water.

It is quite true, as President Taft says, that Roosevelt chastised the muck-rakers, but the President forgot to state that the muck-rakers straightway made Roosevelt their patron saint and have ever since burned incense at his shrine. This prompt and loyal recognition of natural leadership is a tribute to discernment on one side and desert on the other.

A Heney Contract Witness Exposed.

An illuminating light was cast upon the methods and morals of criminals who become witnesses against others under contract of immunity by the testimony given by S. A. D. Puter in a recent trial before the United States District Court in Portland. Puter was one of the star witnesses for Heney and Burns in the Oregon land fraud cases, testifying under contract of immunity. He is known as the "King of Land Frauds." Being called as a witness for the Government in a suit instituted by the Attorney-General against C. A. Smith and the Linn & Lase Timber Company, he confessed to committing perjury and to using the Heney-Burns inquiry and his confidential position with the prosecution to extort $10,467 from C. A. Smith. We find a report of his testimony in the Portland Telegram of May 4th. Says the Telegram:

"Puter frankly admitted that he had given the double-cross to his business associates, had headed a like package to the Government, and had made so many statements of his various transactions that the conflict could not be reconciled.

"He confessed that he used the Heney-Burns inquiry and his confidential position with the prosecution to coerce C. A. Smith into paying him immediately $10,467.

"He said it was he who had Frederick A. Kribs called before the inquisitors and the grand jury. He conceded that he had spoken falsely when making his famous presentation to President Roosevelt and Secretary of the Interior Huel cock, as to the time when he entered into an agreement for acquisition of the Linn county lands in question, and that he had made this presentation strong to carry out another purpose he had in mind.

"Then he confessed that his book, 'The Looters of the Public Domain,' was made strong also to get results in other schemes he was working on."

Nor was it all. Smith claimed that he bought the lands from Puter in good faith, being unaware of any irregularities in the entries. All the entries for the claims in question were complete by February 25, 1900, but Puter swore that he negotiated with Smith for the purchase of the lands prior to that date, or rather had acted for Smith in acquiring the claims by dummy entry. Entrymen insisted that their agreement was with Puter and McKinley. McKinley, Puter's partner in the deal, swore that he and Puter initiated the proceedings, and that Smith was brought in only after the filings had been completed.

In his cross-examination of Puter, former Governor Lind of Minnesota, attorney for the defendants, produced a long file of Puter's correspondence with McKinley and Smith, beginning May 1, 1900. By those letters, which Puter admitted, it was proved by Puter's own handwriting that he did not present the claims to Smith till March, and that Smith had no inkling that anything was wrong with the entries till he had paid for the filings.

When Puter was confronted by these letters, which disproved his statements in his book, the statements in this respect to the President, Secretary of the Interior and many others, he was asked why he had misrepresented the facts.

"Well, I had to make the statement pretty strong to get action. I wanted action."

In this style Puter set forth his guiding thought in the long list of events connected with Oregon land cases. He had a deal on with C. A. Smith for a quantity of Humboldt county land, on which he claimed a balance of $10,467. Smith insisted that this balance should not be paid then, as the agreement between the two was that it should not be paid up in full until both the California and Oregon land deals had been closed. While the Humboldt deal was closed, the Linn county deal was still pending, as a result of the inquiry that had been started by the Government into the Puter and McKinley location methods. Smith foresaw much expense and trouble in connection with the Oregon lands and withheld payment. But Puter played the foxy par. He used his connection with W. J. Burns and Francis J. Heney as a club against Smith and Kribs. He admitted that he sent a demand that unless the $10,467 was paid in four days he would have Smith and Kribs both indicted. And to make this club more effective, he had Kribs summoned before Burns, where he was closely questioned at Puter's instigation.

Smith paid the money. Puter admitted that the entrymen brought in for affidavits were "errorized." He said that Burns swore so loud at them at times that he could be heard two rooms away, threatened them with indictments and the penitentiary and other troubles unless they confessed.

What a sordid, squalid story it is! How it reminds one of the Heney and Burns deals with crooks in San Francisco, the character of the witnesses they employed, the purposes for which they were used and the nature and credibility of the evidence they gave! How the whole business reeks with infamy! Puter is a soul-mate for Big Jim Gallagher, a worthy instrument in the hands of Heney and Burns. He certainly deserves a panegyric from Fremont Older.

The English papers noisily applauded when Roosevelt told the Egyptians how they should behave and what was good for them, but they indulged in groans and hisses when he offered the same sort of advice to John Bull.

Wall street will not gain increased favor with the country by getting up vaudeville panics to frighten the President and Congress. If the railway interests are being treated unjustly some other method will have to be adopted to show it.

We go to the realms of air;
We conquer the powers of fire and flood,
There's nothing we do not dare.

We leave the fogs behind,
The clouds pass under our feet,

Sir Westman Pearson, who has had much to do with the development of the oil fields of Mexico, and is likely to be a principal figure in the forthcoming "oil war," is head of the great firm of contractors bearing his name, which employs something like 30,000 hands. Engineer, dock, tunnel, railway, and bridge builder, Sir Westman has carried out some gigantic contracts. It was the construction of the Blackwell tunnel that brought him to title, and other works standing to his credit are the Southampton dock, the Millford Haven docks, and the Pennsylvania Railroad tunnels.

MACKENZIE'S REPORT ON FARM LABOR CONDITIONS

An Investigation Made by the Express Direction of the Legislature of the State of California

Editor TRIBUNE.—The Legislature at its last session passed an Act directing that: "The Governor shall direct the State Labor Commissioner to immediately undertake, and complete as soon as possible, the gathering and compiling of statistics, and such other information regarding the Japanese of this State as may be useful to the Governor in making a proper report to the President of the United States and to Congress, and in furnishing to the people of this State and elsewhere a comprehensive statement of such conditions as actually exist," and the sum of $10,000 was appropriated for that purpose.

State Labor Commissioner Mackenzie has performed the duty imposed upon him by that Act, and has made his report. The sources of his data are so fully disclosed that anyone who desires can go over the ground and test the facts stated in the report.

Without any pretense of doing this the press, especially of San Francisco, attacks the Commissioner. The Chronicle and Examiner have, in such attacks, stated as facts conditions that do not now and never did exist in California. They have said that in the day of the big ranches Asiatic labor was employed in working them at a profit, and that as they have dissolved into smaller holdings the need of such labor has disappeared. The facts are that the great ranches were used in stock raising or wheat raising, and that Asiatic labor was never employed in either, except in the cook house. When nobler uses of the soil appeared, and orchards and vineyards and the sugar beet, succeeded stock raising and wheat raising, upon smaller holdings, fixed physical conditions, climatic in their nature, were found to be inimical to the employment of Caucasian labor in the important primary processes upon which those changed industries depend. So it came to pass that Chinese labor was diverted from mining, in which it had been largely engaged, and was found suitable to the climatic and other conditions under which the soil was employed in its new uses. Many millions of dollars were invested in orchards and vineyards, and just as returns to the land owners appeared, the anti-Chinese agitation began and the State was obsessed by the city bred idea that the Chinese must go. Then followed the exclusion legislation, and its brutal enforcement. Twenty thousand Chinese who had gone to China under our existing law and the protection of the treaty, duly certified to return, were shut out by subsequent legislation enacted during their legal absence. Many of them had personal property, accounts due, and families here. But their return certificates, the sealed pledge of the United States to their right to return, were not recognized, and the State at one blow lost that mass of labor required in the industries that Caucasian labor rejected. By other legislation and administrative policies the number of Chinese was steadily reduced, leaving an economic vacuum which the Japanese at once filled.

It is known to all men who study the needs of agriculture and horticulture here, that over a wide range of production Caucasian labor will not seek nor retain employment. The stoop-over work, in the sugar beet fields, the vineyards, asparagus plantations, onion fields and other occupations, will not be performed by the long-legged and long-backed Caucasian at any wage, in the high temperatures which here give to those products their excellence.

It is not a question of cheap labor, or of wages. White labor has been sought and besought to work squat all day in a temperature of 100 to 110 in those occupations, and refuses to do it. Japanese labor partly filled the vacuum left by the decreasing Chinese. It is a highly intelligent labor, with a high standard of living and high ideals. Its spirit of enterprise is not inferior to that of any immigration we have received from Europe, while in obedience to the laws of the land and in good order, it is superior to most of that class of aliens. It has, on occasions, exhibited the vice of unreliability common to white labor in our cities, in that respect standing in sharp contrast to the Chinese. But it has proved adaptable, and in a vast majority of cases has been a distinct economic, industrial and social benefit to the State. At first the Japanese were treated the same as other immigrants. They freely distributed themselves to the country districts, and today nearly seventy per cent of them are employed in rural occupations. They have aided in a measure in saving the vast investments which produce perishable property that does not wait when fit for the harvest and the market but rapidly passes to usefulness and total loss. But the Japanese are a self-respecting people, and since the crusade against them began they have found it necessary to mass together for mutual protection against outrage and assault, and their number is steadily declining. As it declines and the production of perishable property increases, an economic vacuum again appears, and it is drawing into the State Hindoo labor. It is the poorest labor we ever had. They are the tall, long-legged Bengalese. One Japanese will do the work of four of them and do it better. But seed time and harvest do not wait and the result is that these swarthy Sikhs are now getting $1.90 a day wages.

Now all of these results have followed the sub-division of the large ranches, and the promotion of the soil to nobler uses.

With an appearance of wisdom that would be amusing if the property and interests at stake were not so vital to California, the San Francisco papers say that sugar beets are raised in Germany, and fruits elsewhere in the world by domestic labor, and triumphantly ask why Japanese labor should be employed here!

The fact is that in no other part of the world are these industries carried on under our physical conditions, and those conditions give this State its pre-eminence and profit in such production in competition with the world.

Under these circumstances the leaders of organized labor in San Francisco, as disclosed by their interviews on the Mackenzie report propose to dictate to the farmers of California what labor they shall employ, and the politicians who are the only servile laborers now in the State, show their servility by taking orders from that source. Every observer knows that if we are to treat Japan and China differently from other nations, in respect to immigration, this State must go through the agony and bloody sweat of change in its rural industries, passing through loss of investment to a less profitable use of the soil.

As for immigration, it should all be restricted equally. Southern Europe is pouring upon us its ignorant millions, herding in the cities, whose votes determine national elections, and rapidly submerging the religious and civic ideals which are the foundation of our institutions. Restrict all alike and cease to cheapen our bright light of the franchise by making every alien wait through twenty-one years of continuous residence before he can be naturalized.

Very truly,

Earth as Mascot

A small piece of Ireland was recently shipped to America, in order that President Taft might deliver his St. Patrick's Day address standing on Irish soil. The idea is picturesque, but not quite so novel as might be imagined, for as long as the year 1833 the once notorious Fenian, O'Donovan Rossa, delivered a speech against England at Philadelphia from a platform covered with turf specially imported from Cork.

The patriotic innovation was received with immense enthusiasm by his audience, but it does not seem to have brought much luck to Rossa himself, for a little while later he was shot in one of the streets of New York by an English girl named Yseult Dudgey.

It is told of Napoleon III., too, "the man of destiny," that he carried with him everywhere in exile, as a sort of mascot, a sod of French earth that he had dug up with a pocketknife from a field near Boulogne in 1840. In 1850, again, Garibaldi, the Italian patriot, harangued at Marsala, in Sicily, his ragged and hungry, but brave and enthusiastic, volunteers while standing on some soil which had been brought over from Genoa in the knapsack of one of his followers.

Then there was the well-known case of Sir Henry Hayes, a patriotic High Sheriff of Cork, who was transported to Australia as a convict, released, made a fortune there, and imported an entire ship load of Irish earth, which he spread all over his beautiful estate near Sydney.

The authorities of Indianapolis are so solicitous for the safety of the eyes, if not the lives, of the public, that they have declared war on the hat-pin. In obedience to a recently enacted city ordinance the police carry a two-inch measuring rule, and are instructed to stop every woman whose hat pin seems to project beyond the brim of the hat unreasonably far. If the policeman is suspicious that danger lurks in the protruding pin, he just cuts with his measuring rule and takes measurements. He finds that the point of the pin projects a distance of an inch and a half beyond the brim. He is then instructed to "run in" the offending hat pin and its wearer. It is claimed that the men of Indianapolis had been in mortal fear for the safety of their eyes, especially on crowded street cars, and petitioned the authorities for protection, and the new law limiting the protruding steel pin to one-half inch in length is the consequence. The women of Indianapolis are also up in arms, as much for an expected, as for a sudden, ordinance to make a compromise by accepting a rule that will oblige them to wear a cork or shield on the protruding pin-point. There is no doubt at all that a hat-pin that projects far beyond the brim is an ever-present menace to eyes and face, especially on crowded street cars when the aisles are full of strap-hangers with bobbing and swinging heads that are waved about by the twenty-inch pins. A similar ordinance would not hurt San Francisco.—News Letter.

Many cottages owned by well known people line Lake Tahoe's shores, for California has learned to appreciate:

Lake county was simply crowded with gay city dwellers during the Decoration Day holiday. Motors full of friends kept passing and repassing one another and at night there were dozens of bridge tables in all of the hotels and inns. Never has there been a greater scene of animation. At Aetna Springs on Sunday night there was not a room to be had and those who had not engaged rooms in advance had to speed on to St. Helena and Napa to get accommodations for the night. It became a question of who had the fastest machine. The biggest power meant the best or perhaps the only rooms in the hotel. Tea baskets packed withainties added much to the plainness of country fare so that it did no matter especially whether the hotel table was very good or not. Lake county was at its loveliest and as yet there was no dust on the roads. Many of the parties went through without even a puncture and the whole journey was a delight. Among

The series of readings he gave on Thursday evening ran the whole gamut of human emotions. Other dramatic readers there have been, who have been most successful, but it is mainly through their own personality. They have a style that is pleasing, a certain magnetism, a rare charm of manner, perhaps. One rarely forgets the reader in the work he is doing. One sees the story as the reader chooses to show it to him. But this is not so with Mr. Hotelling. In one of his recent valuable new books the intellectual aristocrat is described as the man who can get close to human nature, who loves all things human, who loves the poor. And Mr. Hotelling measures up as an "intellectual aristocrat." But his work goes deeper even than that—it mounts higher; he has that wonderful, indefatigable thing that we call genius. It transcends talent—it is a mighty gift of the gods, a wonderful power. Mr. Hotelling shows us human nature, not as he sees it, but as God made it. One can imagine Mr. Hotelling himself to be a man who is a deep student, a gentleman of wide culture, but one thinks no longer of that when he begins to read; one

The industrious repetition of the story that Oscar Cooper, Frank King, Harry Simpkins and Dr. Bush, all of whom have been suffering from the phlegm fever, contracted it at the University Club, where all or some of them formerly lunched together, has cut down the number of members lurching at that club to about ten. Ten seems rather lost in a dining room with a capacity of one hundred and fifty. "It seems that all of some of these men did lunch at the University Club, but not always," the r also lunched at other places and course did not dine together, so it

KINGSTON, Mont., June 4.—One of the most remarkable and puzzling of all the natural phenomena in the Yellowstone National Park recently has been observed by Witter Keeper Eunsen of Idaho. It is a geyser which spouts regular intervals of twenty-four hours and discharges a stream of water as high as the water level of the lake instead of spilling hot water as is called the Venturi effect. It has been the accepted hypothesis of geologists that the water which is coming in contact with lime and soda water creates a carbonate lens and that this lens creates a vent which causes an eruption. This theory fails to explain the Venturi action.

A LINIMENT FOR EXTERNAL USE.

No woman who bears children need suffer during the period of waiting, nor at the time of baby's coming, if Mother's Friend is used as a massage for the muscles, tendons and glands of the body. Mother's Friend is a penetrating, healthful liniment which strengthens the ligaments, lubricates and renders pliant those muscles on which the strain is great, prevents caking of the breasts by keeping the ducts open, and relieves nausea, headache, numbness, nervousness, etc. Its regular use will prepare every portion of the system for the safety of both mother and child and greatly reduce the pain and danger when the little one comes. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book, which contains valuable information for expectant mothers.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—Miss Louise Draper, mother of Elsie and Dorothy Draper, who are prominent in society here and in San Francisco and who are married to Mr. and Mrs. Colonel Thomas W. Noyes, Draper, says a man in disguise took the witness stand at the Superior Judge DeLeon yesterday afternoon and testified that he had just seen and heard from him for several months.

Miss Draper was allowed to be examined by the defense and to cross-examine him. In fact, the trial in this case is a shambles.

San Francisco's Mari Nellie, a money maker, who produced a play, "The Girl with a Whip," to show that the paper offered her and to find a Co. Noyes, Draper, in a court lud men was a failure.

The witness who ran an asset for Elsie Draper does not know if she and her husband's line. The Draper and the Noyes has a full testimony that the money as in the Noyes Draper.

Yes, Draper stated that she did not desire a divorce but only a process with her father support the she took received an allowance of $100 a month. She said that she had no more anything in a court Draper.

Judge DeLeon said that he was sorry to give the trial as an opportunity to discover law in all respects.

SHORTS MAKE RUSH
TO GET TO COVERWall Street Reopens With Big Rebound From Decline of Yesterday.

NEW YORK June 4.—The stock market today opened with a strong rebound from the closing depression of yesterday. An active demand from the shorts to cover had set in already in London and was continued at the opening hour. The result was an advance in prices over last night's closing from a large fraction to 1/2 cent. The advance was most marked in the case of the active shorts, such as Northern Pacific, Great Northern, and Union Pacific. The market was a general advance, with the exception of a few stocks, such as Union Pacific, which was a general advance, with the exception of a few stocks, such as Union Pacific, which was a general advance, with the exception of a few stocks, such as Union Pacific.

LOS ANGELES, June 4—As Devil's Den was not an appropriate name for the Postal Department to take cognizance of the name of a little Arizona town has been changed to Pluto. As the namesake of the mythological keeper of the infernal regions, the town has been recognized by the department and the mail service extended.
